PRODUCT CATALOG

My parents started Amuneal nearly 55 years ago
...to build magnetic shields.

Since then, we have grown from a single product business to multiple divisions serving a broad audience that ranges from scientists + engineers to architects + designers.

One thing that has never changed through the years is that we love what we do. We remain excited by each new project and are energized by the incredible people that we work with. Our amazing team is proud to produce each item in the same Philadelphia neighborhood where the business was founded.

Today, Amuneal remains a close-knit family business rooted in the belief that creativity drives commerce. Our products, our capabilities, and our fearless approach to collaboration have helped us  time and time again.

Each product  and celebrates the quality that authentic materials and hand-crafted items retain through the fabrication process. The products highlighted in this catalog embody the same attention to detail, passion for quality, and spirit of creativity

Enjoy!
